NTL Activities

This is the first of a series of columns through which NTL hopes to keep others informed of summer activity there. One NTL activity to which all interested persons in the Bethel area are invited is the Sunrise Seminar. The Seminars are held Tuesday through Saturday mornings between 7:30 and 8:15 in the Maine Room of the Conference Center Annex (just behind the Conference House itself). Coffee is available.

The topics for each week are chosen on Sunday by the incoming staff members who have projects or ideas to share with the NTL community. Sessions scheduled for the remainder of this week are: "O. D. Windows on the Future," presented by Marvin Weisbord and Ronald Lippitt on Friday, Aug. 5, and "Growth and Organization Development," presented by Joseph Potts on Saturday, Aug. 6. Bethel visitors are welcome at these programs and others that will be held in the remaining weeks of NTL's programs this summer. A list of upcoming Sunrise Seminars will be posted each Monday in the front window of Robert Crane Associates in the Cole Block, Main Street.

There are many people from other countries in NTL programs this summer. This week alone the following countries were represented: Sweden, Japan, Indonesia, France, Israel, Canada, Holland, Switzerland, Trinidad, and Zaire. Monday, Aug. 8, will see the start of a special two-week program, "Leadership for Education," which is specifically geared toward people from developing countries (or those who work with them). In that program expected are participants from, among other countries: Uganda, Botswana, India, the Philippines, and some South American countries. The Ambassador from Uganda will be present for the opening session on Monday and will be visiting in Bethel until Tuesday.

SUDBURY CANADA DAYS IN BETHEL, AUG. 13 & 14

The fourth annual Sudbury Canada Days sponsored by the Bethel Historical Society on Aug. 13 and 14 will feature a wide variety of activities for the entire family.

As usual the focus of the two day event will be "old time pastimes" with something for every interest.

including a flower show, historical film series, craft demonstrations and exhibits, children's games and parade, an art show, tournaments for horseshoes, checkers and croquet, plus a bean supper, church services and a variety show. Festi-ties will begin at 1 p. m. both days and anyone interested is cordially invited to attend. There is no general admission charge and prizes will be offered for many of the contests. All visitors are encouraged to register for a door prize which will be awarded at 4

p. m. Saturday.

The name Sudbury Canada recalls the original name of Bethel from 1768 to 1796 when the town was incorporated as the 107th town in the District of Maine, Commonwealth of Massachusetts. Following an unsuccessful attempt to conquer Canada in 1690 soldiers from Sudbury, Mass., were granted lands in the wilds of Maine by the Commonwealth as payment for their services. The name identifies the Massachusetts town from which they came and the military exploit in which they participated.

Contestants are needed in the horseshoe pitching, croquet, checkers and other contests as well as the children's parade. Also needed are additional volunteers to help with each event. For further information call 824-3369.

Announcements

Pursuant to the Board of Selectmen's vote on July 18, new Landfill hours were placed in effect this week as follows: Saturday and Sunday, 10 a. m. to 4 p. m., and Wednesday from noon to 4 p. m.

If the weather remains kind to us, tarring along several of our often-used roads will commence on Monday, Aug. 8. Motorists are asked to exercise caution when traveling the following work areas:

Intervale Road, 5 miles (sections from Capen Hill to Bear's Corner); Vernon St., 1 mile from Town line; Flat Rd., 1 mile near Meadow Brook Bridge; Mechanic, Plank, Elm Sts., and Evergreen

Rd.; Eden Lane; Kilborn, Philbrook, Winter and Tyler Sts.

With cost reductions in mind, the Highway Department has been stockpiling sand for the tarring projects at the sand pit, having the cost of two trucks and drivers.

Requisite site engineering work for the Elm/Main Street corner is scheduled for Wednesday morning, Aug. 10. Readers will recall that work had to be terminated last summer when it was learned that the corner sidewalk radii would have to be redesigned to fit the different Main and Elm St. slopes. Given delivery times of about three weeks for granite curbing materials, work on the new corner is scheduled to start around Labor Day. This is the only sidewalk project approved for this year.

Future Meetings

The Municipal Facilities Committee will meet in the Town Office

Meeting Room Monday, Aug. 8, at 7 p. m. to discuss a proposed Cole Block renovation and repair plan. The Committee seeks to determine the major projects and time frame needed to restore the building to maximum, productive use.

The Board of Selectmen will meet in special session Tuesday evening,

Aug. 9, in the Town Office Meeting Room at 7:30 to review

Town cash management data to be presented by the Treasurer relevant to the study of a new fiscal year and periodic tax billing. (Study of this subject was mandated by voters at March 1983 Town

Meeting and stipulates the Selectmen will report results to the voters this fall.) At dusk, the Selectmen will conduct an on-site review of proposed street light changes which was the subject of a public hearing July 18.

The meetings above are open to the public and interested citizens are invited to attend.

Gilead

— Louise Loring, Corres. —

Among the lost arts of the past, are the summer time makings of pot pourri, which at present is being revived and is in popular demand. Many mixes are seen in many crafts and floral shops with directions for concocting some of the various scents. I remember as a child, among the other intriguing bottles on my grandmother's dressing stand, stood a little shallow white earthenware bowl, shaped much like a covered sugar bowl, but smaller, and when its cover was opened—from within waited a fine odor of rosebuds and lilacs, and its delicate scent, soon permeated the airy bed room, in a mystical pleasant way.

This particular concoction of hers, I do not know but some of the Do's and Don'ts for the makings, as I have read are listed below.

First you must decide what flower is to be the dominant scent and any other dried attractive flowers can be added. This summer, I chose roses, and gathered petals from far and near and returned them to a covered teapot. I then added rose-hips and some petals of pink pond lilies, and tiny little pieces of orange peel, also a few brightly colored marigolds. After drying the pot is opened and stirred about each day. Already it smells almost like the odor I remember in childhood and perhaps I will experiment some more or leave it alone. Time will tell, for this is an enjoyable craft and one can follow his own spirit in the making thereof, leaving a wide margin for any sudden afterthoughts. If my potpourri turns out as well as I hope it will, I intend to make up some "Dream Pillows" as one craft magazine suggests. Each little pillow stuffed with the potpourri mixture and trimmed in lace. It is said that your thoughts can drift away to pleasant shores, when napping beside one and some cold winter day when storms rage about, for one magical moment, we can slip away to that rose scented Isle of our dreams in long anticipation.

FROM THE BETHEL AREA HEALTH CENTER

Medicines, Safety and the Elderly Because older people can often have a number of physical problems at the same time, it is very common for them to be taking many different drugs. Two or more medicines taken at the same time can sometimes react with each other and produce harmful effects. For this reason, it is important to tell each doctor you go to about other drugs you are taking. This will allow the doctor to prescribe the safest medicines for your situation.

1. Take exactly the amount of drug prescribed by your doctor and follow the dosage schedule as closely as possible.

2. Medicines do not produce the same effects in all people. For this reason, you should never take drugs prescribed for a friend or relative, even though your symptoms may be the same.

3. Always tell your doctor about past problems you had with drugs, and be sure to mention all medicines you are taking, including over-the-counter medicines you are taking.

4. It may help to keep a daily record of the drugs you are taking, especially if your treatment schedule is complicated or you are taking more than one drug at a time.

5. If child-proof containers are hard for you to handle, ask your pharmacist for easy-to-open containers. Always be sure, however, that such containers are out of the reach of children.

6. Make sure that you understand the directions printed on the drug container and that the name of the medicine is clearly printed. Ask your pharmacist to use large type on the label if you find the regular label hard to read.

7. Throw out old medicines, since many of them lose their effectiveness over time.

8. Ask your doctor about side effects that may occur, about special rules for storage, and about which food or beverages, if any, to avoid.

Sunday River

— Jeannine Fleet, Corres. —

Mr. and Mrs. David Fleet went to Sebaco to visit Tammy on Wednesday. On the way back stopped at Ledgeview to visit Julia Fleet.

George Morin and friend, and Nancy Kimball visited with Mary Morin Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dennis and Mr. and Mrs. David Fleet attended the wedding of Paula Putnam and William Smith Jr. at Andover.

Damita Yates had company from Vermont Sunday night.

This past Monday was busy again, or still, which ever way you want to say. Peggy is still doing the heaviest garden work, and we are making Russell take it a little easy, though he is feeling better. Peggy cut swiss chard and spinach for me to freeze, so had to get busy and take care of it. Also had to pick raspberries, so all hands helped. Sister Laura from East Andover called and told us what a wonderful time she and husband Bernard had on a trip to Patien, over the week end, to see the Woodman Museum.

While she was here, she helped Peggy take down the fencing where the peas had been. The peas were done producing, so that is another chore taken care of. Peggy also had a couple of visitors in the forenoon: Dora Cairns of Randolph, N. H., and another lady, Edith, who had worked at the Hillsboro Club in Pompano Beach, Fla., quite a few years ago.

Played lazy on Tuesday and did not do too much other than freeze more greens.

I did have a visitor call for a little while after lunch, but really took it easy that day.

Wednesday was our day to go to Fryeburg, so put up a picnic lunch to take along.

We had just gotten home when my daughter and baby Courtney, along with a friend came to help pick some raspberries. I got to spend this time with my granddaughter, which I enjoyed very much.

Thursday we left early to go to West Sumner to have Herb Ellis fit us all to some shoes. Russell has had shoes made over there and so had mother. They both liked the fit, so Peggy and I are trying this week also. We knew it would take some time, so took along a picnic lunch to eat when we had all been fitted. Drove out around a pond, Russell says he thinks it is Worthley Pond and through Peru and Rumford home. Stopped beside the road and watched the traffic go by while we ate our lunch.

Pomona Grange was having a food sale on Saturday, in Norwary, so did a little cooking Friday, some for that sale and some for us to eat at home. Took what I made and what Peggy made out town to Josephine Tripp, as she was to take the food down to the While out there, we visited with Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rolfe at Sudbury Village. We wanted to see what the apartments were like and had a nice visit all at the same time.

After supper, Peggy and Russell went to Locke Mills to watch the Little League baseball game. Peggy's grandson, Jim, was playing and she likes to watch him. I decided to stay at home with my bird and my dog; they like company too.

Did a little cooking Saturday too. Like to try make things that Russell can eat and most things don't taste too good without salt, but do the best I can to make his food as tasty as possible.

Greenwood City

— Mrs. Colista Morgan, Corres. —

On Tuesday afternoon I took my boat out for the first time in many days. It was beautiful and breezy all afternoon. Of course I took my fish pole along just in case. For a few hours I had no other appointment than those of nature.

There was a fluttering in the branches overhead as I unfurled my boat and looked up into the inquiring eyes of a jay.

I paused to admire a fat brown hawk, drowsing in leafy shade.

A flock of crows had settled on a branch then began flopping from limb to limb noisily cawing back and forth. When they saw me they rose like broken pieces of night, then settled again to carry on their conversation.

On the back shore some of the rocks, were coated with a brown fur of mud and plant debris and nearby were the water striders.

I sat for a few minutes breathing in the scent of the forest and listening to the noise of a chain saw, a motor and voices, accented by occasional shouts and unintelligible words.

Back by the mouth of Sanborn River the button bushes were coming into bloom. How sweet they were!

Of course I seldom go by without turning into the river waters.

Within a short time I came upon a turtle sunning at the end of a log. I was glad to see it wasn't the snapper but the painted.

It was pretty in its dark brown to green with yellow and red markings. This species grows as slowly as it spraddle-legged plodding, while the snapper just keeps on growing through the years. It stayed until I approached very near then it slid into the water hardly making a ruffle.

The frogs at the water's edge were grunting in a harsh, exasperated manner.

Among the trees in the shaded woodland there was activity for kingbirds, conversed in gawling twitters. In June a pair visited my gardens day after day. I wondered if these were the same with a family.

A river is an original forest highway, so to following one, wild, land is found at its wildest. I have walked many rivers and seen them rush and gurgle, slide over falling ledges, cascade among boulders or just spread in lazy stretches to sparkle in the sun—just as the Sanborn was doing today.

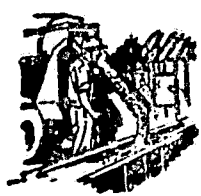

Along the shore some of the trees were seedlings, some had sprouted from stumps and some old and richly robed in lichens.

Here were found luscious ferns with their curving, graceful fronds.

I turned to float back in the bush of my surroundings, where all the land lay lush and hot in the July sun, July—now ending has brought gray dripping days as well as sunshine. In a mist familiar objects seem mysteriously different. Shapes change and even birds on wires look larger. None of that today.

With the coming of evening the night breeze grew stronger. We watched from our lawn, the sunset fade, watched swirling clouds become bordered with red, form and reform along the line of the horizon. For the second time this year we heard the long and lonely call of the loon. Why he was here I don't know but I wish he'd stay forever.

As we entered the house the Liquid notes of a thrust wished us "good night" from the wooded slope up back.

Again a moose has visited our neighborhood. This time it was mother and her baby near the Hayes Homestead. "What a picture they made," said Doris, "the big and the little, in a wide opening against the green forest."

Most of our day, today, from 9 a. m. until 4 p. m., except for lunch, was spent picking raspberries. If anyone wants bending and stretching exercises, try berry picking.

Northwest Bethel

— Clarice Gibson, Corres. —

Had my Monday all planned and a lot of it was outdoor work, but with the rain can't do a lot of it. The best laid plans of mice and men often go astray. Guess a lot of pickers have been taking advantage of the blueberry picking as see cars parked every time one goes into town. Seemed as though with the exception of yesterday, last week was either humid or rainy. The folks did come up Saturday to pick a few raspberries and supper. The humidity was so one could not really do too much.

THOROUGH INSPECTIONS ARE NECESSARY, SAY POLICE

The State Police advise motorists to make sure when they take their motor vehicle to be inspected it is done thoroughly for their own safety.

"Motorists who by law are supposed to have their vehicles inspected by a State licensed motor vehicle inspection station should make sure that the items required by law to be inspected are indeed inspected," said Col. Allan H. Weeks, Chief of the Maine State Police.

The State Motor Vehicle Inspection fee of $3 covers the inspection only. Any required parts and labor necessary to correct faults are extra.

Col. Weeks said Traffic & Safety Division officers are making a maximum effort in cooperation with licensed station owners and certified mechanics to make sure that motor vehicles are being inspected as required by law.

The Maine motor vehicle inspection includes:

—Brakes (including the emergency brake)—Steering mechanism and suspension system (including tires and wheels)—Exhaust system—Lights (including head, tail, directional, and rear plate lights, rear reflector and taillight aim). If the headlight aim has to be adjusted, there may be an additional charge. — Rust (especially frame rust, along with body rust and protruding metal edges. — Mirrors, horn, window glass, and seat belts.

NORTHERN LIGHTS

"MUSICAL SUPPER" ATTRACTS OVERFLOW CROWD, JULY 27

The happy combination of a tasty supper, some delightful entertainment, and an overflow crowd made the second annual "Musical Supper" sponsored by the Northern Lights Singers on Wednesday, July 27, at the Jackson-Silver American Legion Post in Locke Mills, a resounding success.

As the supper guests lined up for the hearty lasagne menu, the famous "Singing Waiters", introduced by M. C. Ernestine Riley, and including Arnie Jordan, Stan Martin, Bill Riley, Jack Roberts, Ray Swan, and John Yates, who make up the tenor and bass sections of the Northern Lights pleased the audience with two parodies, "When the Waiters Come Marching In" and "Hi Ho, Hi Ho, It's Off to Work We Go".

Charlotte Cole continued the program with several enjoyable guitar and harmonica renditions after which the well known local favorite, Terry Martin, impressed those present with his banjo and guitar skills. Cathy Hoy, accompanying herself on guitar, then offered two vocal numbers in her most pleasant style.

Dot Canwell, Richard Felt, Eileen Hathaway, and Carl Brooks enlivened the musical proceedings with a variety of sparkling instrumental renditions.

Karen Doughty, Becky Imman, and Linda Stowell then completely surprised and amused those in attendance with their innovative, and skillful vocal trio presentations. A sweet-sounding accordion in the capable hands of Erlow Hadley moved the program on and provided listeners with several great sounding selections.

The well-known local duo of Rudy and JoAnne Royer, on fiddle and piano delighted the crowd with some of the best old-time and fancy tune fiddle playing to be found in the surrounding area.

The Northern Lights Singers, under the direction of Linda Stowell, and accompanied by Patti Thursday brought smiles of approval and enthusiastic applause with the presentation of three numbers from the 1983 concert entitled "Songs from the Heart".

The current roster in addition to the singing waiters includes Carmen Bartlett, Cathy Hoy, Helen Martin, Marcia dePaula (soprano); Pam Benson, Jody Stiles, and Linda Stowell (altos).

The appreciative audience of over 200 responded to each program segment with loud and lengthy applause and judging from the complimentary remarks received, this musical supper may be offered again next year.

Carmen Bartlett and Linda Stowell, co-ordinators of the benefit affair along with Stan Martin, general manager of the Northern Lights Singers, wish to thank all who contributed their time and talent to the program's success.
